Well it's over, four days of intense training by two qualified Faith Trainers and 46 Pastors, Evangelist and church leaders are smiling as they walk out the door. They know that the 105 Salvation's and the 98 people that recommitted themselves to the Lord plus the 255 that heard the plan of salvation is a reflection of their commitment to serve not sit. Not bad for three hours on the street.

It has been wonderful seeing their faces as they absorb Bible truths they hadn't heard or didn't understand before. We feel very confident that this class will go far.

My only heartache is we didn't have enough Bibles for everyone. We ran out of Bibles before we even started the last days training. We heard stories of "I had to borrow this Bible to attend training" and "another Pastor and I share this Bible". Hopefully, we can send some money back to buy Bibles for all the new believers and attendees.

On the last day my team went to visit a couple that were known to not be believers. They weren't home but a friend invited us to her house. Sitting on the rocks in front of her house we learn she knows about God but doesn't have a relationship with him. By the time we finish three teenagers and a neighbor have prayed to accept Christ. What a wonderful way to end the day.

Thank you friends and family for keeping us in your prayers, this has been an extremely productive week.
 Don & Mike in Goma, DR Congo.

Multiple times a day they trudge down to the lake to get water, some travel miles.

It's hard work carrying 1 or 2, 5 gal water jugs

Unchaperoned kids learn early what real work is.

Everyone has to stop and take a break once in a while.
